

PATHWAYS TO PRIVATE LESSONS

FOR PARENTS WITH CHILDREN AGES 3-6

Thursday, May 2, 2024
7:30 pm | on Zoom

What's next in your child's musical journey? Join Hoff-Barthelson Music School Dean Christopher Kenniff and Associate Dean April Johnson for an informative online discussion via Zoom about starting your child in private lessons at HBMS.

Discussion topics include:

- How do you know when your child is developmentally ready to begin private instruction?
- How do you identify the best teacher?
- How do you select the right instrument?

Use the QR Code to RSVP and receive the Zoom link.

Christopher Kenniff serves as the Dean at Hoff-Barthelson Music School overseeing faculty and programs; he is also a member of the School's faculty teaching classical guitar. He works with the School's Associate Dean and Registration Team to place students in lessons, classes, and ensembles; and with families and faculty to monitor student progress.

April Johnson has been a part of Hoff-Barthelson for over 30 years; currently serving as Associate Dean as well as on the violin, Suzuki violin and chamber music faculty. She started her career as the Dean of the Mount Vernon Music Academy, a satellite of HBMS. She has served on the Faculty Council, Faculty Committee, and Friends Volunteer Committee.
